

Renaissance World Map - 1507 a.d.

Martin Waldseemüller, a highly respected French cosmographer, created this World Map in the year 1507. It is the FIRST map to use the name "America" to label the New World, and as you can see is very similar to modern day maps.

The map is in the public domain and you may print or copy it for any use.